

FIERCE BATTLE IN THE FIELDS

Kansas Farmers in Hot Pursuit of the Escaped Convicts.

FIVE MEN ARE SHOT

Country Terrorized by Desperate Criminals Who Loot Houses and Steal Horses.

FIGHTING NOT ENDED

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 9.—Jas. Wilson, another escaped convict, was captured on the street here this morning and made no resistance. The convicts wounded at Nortonville are not seriously hurt excepting John Green whose leg will have to be amputated.

The guards wounded in the outbreak will recover. The official statement issued at noon by the prison official shows two of the escaped convicts are killed, two wounded and captured and six captured uninjured. These with the one killed and the one who surrendered Thursday leave fourteen at liberty.

The two men men arrested at Topeka last night on the suspicion of being escaped convicts proved their identity this morning and were released. The posse started at noon in pursuit of four heavily armed men seen near Rock Creek this morning.

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 9.—Fifteen of the twenty-six convicts who mutinied and escaped from the new United States penitentiary site are still at large and terrorizing the countryside. Of the others two are dead, two badly wounded, and the others back in captivity. The slaughter took place this afternoon near Nortonville, Jefferson County, thirty miles from this town, in a pitched battle. The dead are: James Hoffman, aged 20, white, J. J. Poffenholz, aged 25, white, soldier convict, Willard Drake, white, aged 19, was wounded and recaptured, and Fred Moore, aged 16, a negro, was recaptured unhurt. John Gresham, aged 21, fatally wounded. The fight was between five convicts and a posse of the men of Nortonville. Over 100 shots were fired. Farmer Welsh found the men hiding in his hay, rode rapidly to town, and returned with nearly every able-bodied man and boy of the neighborhood, all armed, at his heels. The barn was surrounded, and there was talk of burning it—to which its owner demurred—when the convicts simplified the situation by making a dash. The posse poured in volleys from their shotguns, rifles, and revolvers. The convicts returned a running fire with the weapons wrested from the guards. One after another, four of the fleeing mutineers dropped in the field, and then the last of the party threw down his gun. Not one of the posse was hurt.

Six More Mutineers Caught. R. L. Davenport and Donald Noris, two more of the mutineers have been captured and brought back to the penitentiary; they were found in a strip of timber near Jarbalo. The Jarbalo town doctor and postmaster led a posse that captured them. They tried to run, but did not show fight. The convicts were brought in at night, footbound, strapped to a wagon, with six heavily armed farmers guarding them. Ole Babo, a half-breed Indian, and Joseph H. Deekin, soldier, were recaptured at Lawrence, and two other mutineers were retaken in Topeka. Frank Thompson, the negro who led the outbreak, is reported near Lawrence, heavily armed. All day Leavenworth County has been in a state of terror, particularly Easton, High Prairie, Alexandria, Tonganoxie, Stranger, and Reno Townships. Nothing like it has been known since the border ruffian days. Quantrell's band created scarcely more terror than these desperate and aroused horse-thieves, bootleggers, and cutthroats from Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. This panic in the country began last night, and is by no means over.

Police Swarm the Country. Leavenworth County is swarming with policemen from the various towns, country constables, and guards from the prison. Their incentive is the reward of $50 a head for every convict caught, offered by Warden McClaghry. A dozen farmhouses were searched for weapons and other necessities. Nothing was taken that the convicts did not absolutely need. At least twenty-five horses have been stolen, and some ridden to death.

Fugitives Are Desperate. During and since the mutiny the convicts have committed nearly every crime in the calendar, and it is thought most of those who fail to get away this time will spend the rest of their lives behind stone walls. They seem to appreciate this, and are thoroughly desperate. Word comes from Tonganoxie that a band of convicts passed around that village today, probably on their way to cross the Kansas River, which bounds the county on the south.

FAST TYPE SETTING RECORD

Compositor Puts Up 84,500 Ems on a Linotype Machine in Eight Hours. Dayton, O., Nov. 9.—A remarkable record on the linotype machine was made on Thursday in the office of The Daily News, when Claude Couse set 3,250 lines of nonpareil, linometer count, making a total of 84,500 ems in eight hours. The machine was speeded to seven lines a minute. To secure this result it was necessary to touch the keys 109,000 times, of nearly six times a second.

Samuel Echlin is on the road again in the interest of Bassett and Echlin.

LARGE NEW YACHT FOR LAKE GENEVA

John J. Mitchell, the Chicago Banker, Orders a Steel Steamer to Be Completed by May 1.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 9.—John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, has awarded a contract for a seventy-five foot steel yacht, mahogany finish, to be completed by May 1, 1902. The steamer will cost $16,000 and the owner will ply it on Lake Geneva in connection with his summer residence. It will prove a fast craft as it will be equipped with engines of 200 horse power and will have a speed of fifteen miles an hour. The $18,000 steel yacht built for Isaac Elwood, De Kalb, Ill., will be launched on Nov. 13. It is eighty feet over all, has thirteen foot beam, and is designed to draw twenty-four inches of water when loaded.

WOMEN WANT CITIZEN SUFFRAGE

Petition to Congress Urged by Dr. Olympia Brown at Women's Convention at Racine.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 9.—The second day of the Wisconsin woman's suffrage convention was attended by about fifty delegates. Rev. Olympia Brown, the president, reported that the death rate was larger than ever before in the society's history.

She recommended the establishment at Madison of a woman's headquarters and that a committee be appointed to raise money for that purpose. She also advised the circulation of a petition to congress asking for a sixteenth amendment providing for citizen suffrage.

Addresses were made by Mrs. Chas. E. Erskine and Dr. Maude Sanders of Racine, Mrs. E. Boynton Harbert of Evanston, and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Chicago. Officers will be elected today, and will be the same as last year. Madison will be selected as the next meeting place.

Y., broke the world's record for high jumping last night at the Chicago horse show clearing the bars at a height of 7 feet 4 1/2 inches. The former record was 7 feet 3 inches, and several days ago the officials of the horse show offered $500 to the owner of the horse that could beat it.

Sailors Saved from Death.

Orleans, Mass., Nov. 9.—Six sailors were rescued from death by drowning or freezing yesterday by the Orleans life-saving crew. The men were taken from the British schooner John S. Parker, wrecked in a severe northeast gale off this coast. The schooner went ashore during the night in one of the highest seas ever seen by local marine men. It took almost four hours to get the crew of six men ashore, and all of them were nearly dead from the cold and exposure. They were cared for at the life-saving station, and later sent to Boston. The vessel is a total wreck.

May Push Turkey Farther.

Nov. 9.—"It is reported," says a dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Cologne Gazette, "that France and Russia have arrived at an agreement for common action with a view to the execution of reforms in Armenia and the European provinces of the Ottoman empire, guaranteed by the Sultan in the Berlin treaty. They propose to invite the signatory powers to meet in conference for this object. It is expected here that all the powers will accept the invitation, but the conference could not well be held before spring."

AFFLICTED CATTLE MAY BE SOLD IF FOUND SUITABLE FOR FOOD

Attorney-General Hicks at Madison, Writes an Opinion Describing the Powers and Duties of the Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—At the request of the Wisconsin livestock sanitary board, Attorney General Hicks today gave an interpretation of the law prescribing the duties and powers of the board in dealing with and suppressing tuberculosis in cattle.

The attorney general finds that the board can allow the shipment and sale of such animals which are infected with this disease as it deems fit for food or may allow the owner to retain them under such quarantine regulations as may seem necessary to the board. On these points the attorney general says:

"I am very clear, under the authority given in said act, that whenever your board finds animals that respond to the tuberculin test, you may do one of three things:

No Claim Against State. "First—Allow the owner to ship under regulations prescribed by your board, such of the animals as in the judgment of your board, are fit for food to an abattoir, for immediate slaughter, in which event the owner would receive the full amount of the cattle might bring, but would have no claim against the state on account of the slaughter of the cattle.

"Second—That if the owner of the cattle responding to the tuberculin test should prefer to retain them, he may do so under such quarantine regulations as shall be prescribed by your board.

Bunker Hill, Kas., Nov. 9.—Mary Ann Bickerdyke, the famous nurse of the armies of Grant and Sherman, who was known to veterans all over the country as "Mother Bickerdyke," died here yesterday, aged 84. After completing her education in Oberlin college she volunteered as a nurse in one of the city hospitals during the siege of cholera in 1837 at Cincinnati. She married at Cincinnati in 1847 Robert Bickerdyke, a musician who was a member of an orchestra that played with Jenny Lind in her trip through the country. From the beginning to the close of the civil war she took an active part as a nurse. She will be buried at Galesburg, Ill.

AMERICAN SHIPS ARE GAINING FAST

Total of Tonnage Still Far Below That of European Countries—Pacific Trade Grows.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—The report of Mr. Chamberlain, the United States commissioner of navigation, says that American tonnage now has attained practically the former maximum of 1861. The figures of 1901, compared with 1861 show an increase in coasting trade vessels from 2,704,544 tons to 4,582,683 tons, (two-thirds) of this increase being on the great lakes; a decrease in foreign trade vessels from 2,496,849 tons to 879,595 tons, and a decrease in whaling and fishing vessels from 338,375 tons to 81,940 tons.

Of the total tonnage tonnage 3,623,201 tons are wooden vessels and only 1,901,017 tons are iron or steel. In 1900 Great Britain launched 1,440,000 tons of steel vessels.

Although registered American vessels increased 62,435 tons during the year, American vessels carried only 8.2 per cent of the exports and imports, the smallest percentage in history.

The fleet of ocean steamers in foreign trade, the report says, is too small to be compared with that of foreign countries.

PAT CROWE MAY NOW STAND TRIAL

Acquittal of James Callahan in the Cudahy Kidnaping Case, Favorable to Crowe.

Omaha, Nov. 9.—James Callahan, charged with the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy and subsequently with perjury in connection with this defense, has been finally set free. The jury in the perjury case brought in a verdict of not guilty last night after being out thirty-three hours.

The delay was due to the debate on the subject of Callahan's mustache which the prisoner swore had been shaved off before the date of the kidnaping, but which other witnesses distinctly remembered subsequent to that event. Callahan has been in jail nine months.

There is now little to prevent Pat Crowe from returning to Omaha. The evidence on which Callahan has been tried would probably prevail in the case of Crowe.

ANDREW CARNEGIE NOW IN PITTSBURGH

Ready to Begin Work on His Greatest Philanthropic Enterprises in That City.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 9.—Andrew Carnegie arrived in Pittsburg last night to take up his two greatest philanthropic enterprises—the enlarging of the Carnegie institute and the erection of the new technical school. It will mean the expenditure of many millions of dollars—how much, no one knows. The trustees of the institute say Mr. Carnegie tonight refused to talk of his plans. He will be the guest of George Lauder.

STRIKE OF STEEL WORKERS DECLARED

Five Thousand Miners Will Quit Work in Scranton, Pennsylvania, On Monday.

Scranton, Nov. 9.—A strike of five thousand miners employed by the Temple Steel and Iron Works will take place Monday. It may involve the entire anthracite field. The trouble is ascribed to the system of blacklisting alleged to have been put in vogue by the company. Miners believe there is an effort on foot to disrupt the union.

Warden Chamberlain Dies.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—William Chamberlain, warden of the state penitentiary at Jackson, Mich., died at 10 o'clock p. m. in the Great Northern hotel. He was on his way to Kansas City to attend the prison congress and had been in Chicago but a few hours when he became ill, and a few hours later he was dead. At the coroner's inquest a verdict was returned to the effect that death was due to fatty degeneration of the heart. Mr. Chamberlain was one of the best-known Republicans in the state of Michigan.

Negotiating with Handits.

Washington, Nov. 9.—All that can be gathered here touching Miss Stone's case is that the reports from the Levant are to the effect that some kind of communication is being maintained, though very indirectly, between Miss Stone's captors and the people who are seeking to secure her release. It is believed that up to this point the missionaries themselves have been the only persons able to keep open the line of communication.

Hot Game of Football.

A hot game of football was played at Athletic park yesterday afternoon between picked teams from this city and from Rockton. The visitors put up a strong game but the Janesville boys were considerably better and the visiting team went home with the small end of an 11 to 0 score. The first touchdown was made by Arthur Ryan in the first half of the game and in the second half Will Ryan was successful in carrying the pigskin across the line.

MAJOR WALLER IN HOT FIGHT

The Battle Results in the Death of Twenty-Six Insurgents.

ON SOJOTON ISLE

Two Americans Are Killed, After Two Days' Hard Fighting.

SEVERAL WOUNDED

Manila, Nov. 9.—Major Waller with a company of marines recently drove a big force of insurgents from an entrenched position on Sojoton Island, Samar, after a siege lasting two days. Two Americans were killed and several wounded. Twenty-six dead insurgents were found in the trenches after the enemy retired. Waller destroyed seventy houses in the town. He used a couple of three inch guns in his attack on the Filipino stronghold.

Seven Soldiers Drowned.

Manila, Nov. 9.—Lieutenant Crawford, five privates, and a sergeant of the First Infantry have been drowned while crossing the Baboon river, in Samar. The Leyte insurgents are extending their operations. They are cutting the telegraph lines and attacking patrols and supply trains. Communications from Leyte urge the re-establishment of martial law. The Philippine commission will forward its missing recommendations to Congress. These practically urge the adoption of a condensed form of American law, with a few exceptions covering special conditions.

TALENTED WOMEN VISIT THIS CITY

The Mother is Authoress and the Daughter is a Gifted Elocutionist.

Two unusually interesting women, mother and daughter, are stopping in Janesville for a few days and are making their home in the city at Mrs. Hamilton's boarding house on Milton avenue. The women are Mrs. A. M. Castello and her daughter, Miss Bernice. The mother is an authoress and the daughter is an elocutionist, and violinist and is one of the finest impersonators in this country. Both of the ladies are attractive personally. Mrs. Castello is a subdued lady with quiet ways, a low even voice and a serious face framed in a pompadour of dark hair that is fast becoming gray. Her daughter is her opposite in personal appearance and manner. She has a sweet, almost childish face, fair curling hair and blue eyes and she is animated and enthusiastic in conversation. It is an amusing fact that the daughter talks entirely of her mother's work and the mother in turn finds the center for her conversation in her daughter's talent.

The ladies make their home in New York but spend the greater part of the year traveling through the country with the husband and father, who is their business manager. Miss Castello gives entertainments and her mother has for several years written the majority of the selections which her daughter recites. Recently Mrs. Castello has become more ambitious in her writing and her first book has recently been published.

It is a story of American home life and has the unique name of "Four in Hand." The scenes are laid in New York and Texas and a prominent critic says that it is a charming story of family life in which are characters which win admiration and sympathy from the first.

It is a love story, but sweet and clean and sparkling with vivacity and humor. The book is published by the Pilgrim Press of Boston, is well illustrated and has already had a large sale. It has been highly prized by those who have read it as being heartily written, true to life and of excellent coloring. Mrs. Castello finds her deepest satisfaction in the book's success in the fact that it is pure and wholesome and not sensational.

Miss Castello is busy now making selections from the book for an entire evening's entertainment. Mrs. Castello has another book ready for the publisher and is at work on others. She says that she writes rapidly and enjoys the traveling life which the family leads because it gives her so much time to write and such excellent opportunities for broadening her knowledge of human nature and of American localities. "Mr. and Mrs. Castello and daughter will remain in Janesville a part of next week.

Carnegie Chosen Lord Rector.

London, Nov. 9.—Vice-Chancellor Donaldson of the University of St. Andrews has announced the unanimous election of Andrew Carnegie as lord rector. The students greeted the announcement with prolonged cheering and the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The vice-chancellor remarked that Mr. Carnegie's election was with the approval of the whole nation.

KINDERGARTEN CONSTITUTION

ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. B. F. Dunwiddle Elected President—Some Practical Suggestions Made by Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy—Miss Lucy Barron of Chicago, an Experienced Teacher, Talks.

The Janesville Kindergarten association was organized yesterday afternoon with an earnest enthusiasm which promises well for the success of the work which it hopes and expects to do. Of course its first work will be the establishment of a public kindergarten which will be necessarily be limited in its accommodations, but this school is expected to be the beginning of larger things and the ultimate object of the kindergarten association is the encouragement and fostering of public sentiment which shall result in a free kindergarten system as a part of the public schools which shall be open to all the children of the city without expense.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was not largely attended the meeting of the Art League keeping many interested ladies away but those present showed a sincerity and enthusiasm which was very encouraging to those who had started the movement. Rev. Robert C. Denison, who has been the organizer of the association, presided at the meeting and submitted a constitution, which he had drawn up previously. The constitution is as simple as it is possible for it to be and it was adopted unanimously. It is as follows:

Constitution
Article I.—The name of the organization shall be the Janesville Kindergarten association.

Article II.—The Object of the association shall be to promote the cause of the kindergarten in the city of Janesville.

Article III.—The officers shall be a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer and shall be elected to serve for one year.

Article IV.—The president, or in his or her absence, the vice president, shall call and preside at the meetings, the treasurer shall receive and disburse the funds and the secretary shall keep the records of the association.

Article V.—Immediately upon election, the president shall appoint an executive committee of three members who shall be empowered to do business for the association without report, except at the annual meeting or at such other times as the association shall by vote ask for a report.

Article VI.—The treasurer's warrant for paying out money shall be an order signed by the chairman of the executive committee.

Article VII.—Any person may become a member of the association by the payment of a membership fee of three dollars or over.

Article VIII.—An annual meeting shall be held some time during the month of December or special meetings may be called at any time by the president.

The Officers Elected
The organization of the association being effected by the above constitution, the following officers were elected.

President—Mrs. B. F. Dunwiddle.
Vice President—Mrs. W. F. Bosworth.

Secretary—Mrs. A. E. Matheson.
Treasurer—Mrs. William Reger.

Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy, who is deeply interested in the kindergarten movement, as she is in all educational matters, made some excellent practical suggestions concerning the foundation of the school. She felt that it was important that it should be given a standing in the community not merely as a school for the entertainment of the little children but as one of the educational forces of the city.

To this end she urged that the mothers must be deeply interested and in her estimation she deemed it advisable to secure a teacher who was capable of conducting mothers' meetings in addition to being an efficient kindergarten teacher.

Mrs. F. H. Blodgett and Mrs. D. W. Holmes, who have done much to arouse interest in the movement, spoke enthusiastically of the manner in which the project of a kindergarten had been welcomed by the women to whom they had talked.

Miss Lucy Barron, an experienced kindergarten teacher of Chicago and one of the applicants for the position as teacher, was present at the meeting and made some valuable suggestions especially regarding the purchase of material. All business of the association, such as the engaging of the teacher, the selection of and hiring of the room and the purchase of the necessary equipment, will be left entirely to the executive committee.

Mrs. Dunwiddle has appointed the following ladies as members of the executive committee: Mrs. J. L. Bostwick, Mrs. Frank H. Blodgett and Mrs. C. S. Jackman.

MOVING PICTURES OF PRES. M'KINLEY

The Kinodrome Show commences a three night engagement at the opera house on November 14, a few words explaining what a kinodrome Show is.

The Kinodrome is the moving picture machine now in universal use in the leading vaudeville theatres in this country; we mention this to demonstrate the high order of the pictures this machine must exhibit to retain its prestige and constant use in the theatres it is at this time being operated in. The Kinodrome Show is an exhibition of moving pictures sent on tour under the direction of the company operating these various machines in the manner stated. It has been found necessary to gain public favor and interest in our moving picture exhibitions at the various theatres, to obtain at all times scenes and incidents of happenings up to date and in so doing we have accumulated the largest and most varied stock of animated subjects in existence. Up to the introduction of the Kinodrome show on tour, the public outside of the cities have had only a slight knowledge of what is being accomplished in motion photography, the rapid advancement, ingenuity and quality of the highest photography being obtained in the mysterious art.

In arranging for tour the Kinodrome Show it has been the aim of the management to give an exhibition of moving pictures that would enable its patrons in the various towns and cities on its route, to enjoy the same pictures and the same general make up of exhibition as is given in the theatres in the large cities.

William S. Gill, specially engaged to play the little role in Pudd'nhead Wilson, is peculiarly adapted for the role. He was a member of the company which first produced the comedy he has played every male character in the play and has participated in absolutely every performance given.

He has already scored a hit by his impersonation of this great conception of that master mind of American humorists, Mark Twain. As an actor, with the truest artistic instinct, there are few, who in character roles may rival Mr. Gill. He was reared in the atmosphere of the theater and he has had a most extensive experience in character roles, acquiring himself with credit in many of the successes of late years. The role of Pudd'nhead Wilson is one of the most important he has ever essayed though, but he lends to it a grace and character the value of which is inestimable.

Women Smoke Cigarettes
Women reside in our midst who smoke cigarettes. And they are women who are well known in society circles. Cigarette smoking among Janesville women has become a fad in the last two years. George Baccash of the local Syrian fruit firm of Bonahoon & Baccash said to a Gazette man: "Hardly a day goes by but what we sell cigarette packages to women here in Janesville." These cigarettes for women are made small and of the best of Turkish tobacco. Many of the women who come in to buy are well-known residents of the city.

Galveston Shows Rare Pluck.
Plucky Galveston has more than recovered from the hurricane visitation of a year ago. The city has not only held its trade during the year following the disaster, but has made encouraging increases.

That Campaign Train.
There is a revival of stomach-aching over that special train from which Candidate La Follette addressed the voters of Wisconsin. It seems the railroads quoted a very low price on movable oratory, and Mr. La Follette felt no disposition to pay more than the catalogue indicated. If the railroads anticipated side benefits that was their business; and if they failed to get them there is no occasion to tax public sympathy. The railroads had long been familiar with the honest type of public official; it was the reinforcing of this excellent type with a shrewdness equal to their own that gives them that gold brick feeling.—Madison Journal.

KNOWS NO DISTINCTION.
Rich and Poor Alike Suffer From Catarrh in This Climate.

All observant physicians have noticed the enormous increase in catarrhal diseases in recent years, and the most liberal and enlightened have cheerfully given their approval to the new internal remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as the most successful and by far the safest remedy for catarrh yet produced.

One well known catarrh specialist, as soon as he had made a thorough test of this preparation discarded inhalers, washes and sprays, and now depends entirely on Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in treating catarrh, whether in the head, throat or stomach.

Dr. Risell says: "In patients who had lost the sense of smell entirely and even where the hearing has begun to be affected from catarrh, I have had fine results after only a few weeks' use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. I can only explain their action on the theory that the cleansing and antiseptic properties of the tablets destroy the catarrhal germs wherever found, because I have found the tablets equally valuable in catarrh of the throat and stomach as in nasal catarrh."

Dr. Estabrook says, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are especially useful in nasal catarrh and catarrh of the throat, clearing the membranes of mucous and speedily overcoming the hawking, coughing and expectorating.

Any sufferer from catarrh will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets will give immediate relief, and being in tablet form, and pleasant to the taste, are convenient and always ready for use, as they can be carried in the pocket and used at any time as they contain no poisonous drugs, but only the cleansing, antiseptic properties of Eucalyptus bark, Gualacal, blood root and hydrastrin.

All druggists sell the tablets at 50 cents for complete treatment.

UNEXPECTED ADVICE.
Some time ago a man presented himself before the Liverpool magistrates with the following tale: "My name is Patrick O'Connor, and I live at — street, and I kape hens in my cellar, but the water pipes is burst, an' my hens are all drowned."

"Well, my good man, we can do nothing for you; you had better apply to the water company," was all the advice he got.

A few days later the same man appeared with precisely the same tale. "You were here a few days ago, and we advised you to go to the water company. Did you do so?"

"I did, yer honors."

"And what did they say to you?"

"They told me to keep ducks!"—Chicago Journal.

DELIGHTFUL STORY OF LOVE AND WAR
"Barbara Frietchie," one of the most delightful stories of love and war, was portrayed on the stage at the Myers Grand last evening with a vividness and naturalness, that made the fair sized audience ashamed of its proportions and wish that a crowded house had been present to welcome and enjoy so thoroughly artistic a production.

The play is by Clyde Fitch and possessed the unique coloring and fine detail, both in scenic effects and dialogue which are the chief charms of everything she writes. The first act is distinctly original in stage setting and treatment and is very picturesque. The interior of the home with the central staircase, is also an unusually fine stage setting.

Ther play is full of strong dramatic action and thrilling scenes the climaxes following each other swiftly, until the last act, which is in marked contrast with the others. This act with the death of Barbara's Union lover and her murder by her insane Confederate admirer, as she is hanging the stars and stripes from her balcony, is beautifully pathetic and was done exquisitely.

The honors of the evening were captured by Miss Frances Gaunt, as "Barbara Frietchie" the central play. Charming in her personal appearance and fascinating in the lighter parts of the play, Miss Gaunt is also a strong emotional actress and was at her best in the intensity of her grief over parting with her lover just as they are to be married. In her entreaty with her father for his life, and in her magnificent protection of him from his enemies.

Al other parts in then lay are secondary to the heroine but Richard Williams did some splendid work as the Union captain. His love scene with Barbara was touchingly tender and his delirium after being wounded was well carried out. J. H. Maxellon as Barbara's irascible father, was true to nature and had one very strong scene with his daughter, which was one of the best things in the play. Edith Bowman did some acceptable work as Barbara's friend and the young ladies of the cast were all fine appearing and played minor parts prettily. Jessie Charon, who doubled as a negro mammy and a minister's wife did not distinguish between the parts, playing both in much the same manner and the style adopted was much more suitable to the negro than to the gray-haired wife of a parson.

Henry Mueller as Barbara's brother and Edwin Meyer as her mad lover, were both strong in their parts, the balance of the cast was capable. Several curtain calls were given during the evening.

INDIGESTION.
Perfect digestion means pure blood. Pure blood means a clear complexion, a bright eye and an elastic step. Indigestion is always the result of negligence. To fail to assist nature in removing a defective system and to bring about harmony in the natural functions of the body, is worse than unwise—it is a crime against health and life. Overcrowding the stomach, or eating food difficult of assimilation is one of the main causes of indigestion. Indigestion is known by sallow, spotted or pimpled skin; dull and listless eyes; dis agreeable taste, without tongue; frequent belching and flatulence; nervousness, rheumatism and malaria. Sold by all druggists in 50 cent and $1.00 bottles, but never in bulk. We will be glad to send you a trial bottle and a very interesting little booklet on stomach troubles, if you will mention your symptoms. Pepsin Syrup Company, Monticello, Ill.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY

LIMA.

Lima, Nov. 8.—At 11:35 a. m. on Thursday, Nov. 7, the magic words were pronounced by Rev. T. W. North which united in the happy bond of matrimony Mr. Henry V. Woodstock and Mrs. Mary O. Rock-a-Bye Baby

These are sweet words, but how much pain and suffering they used to mean. It's different now. Since Mother's Friend has become known expectant mothers have been spared much of the anguish of childbirth. Mother's Friend is a liniment to be applied externally. It is rubbed thoroughly into the muscles of the abdomen. It gives elasticity and strength, and when the final great strain comes they respond quickly and easily without pain. Mother's Friend is never taken internally. Internal remedies at this time do more harm than good. If a woman is supplied with this splendid liniment she need never fear rising or swelling breasts, morning sickness, or any of the discomforts which usually accompany pregnancy.

The proprietor of a large hotel in Tampa, Fla., writes: "My wife had an awful time with her first child. During her second pregnancy, Mother's Friend was used and the baby was born easily before the doctor arrived. It's certainly great."

MCKINLEY MEMORIAL OFFERING

The following is the form of subscription blanks sent out by the National Memorial association.

The undersigned, residents of _____, State of Wisconsin, hereby subscribe the sum set opposite our names for the purpose of erecting a suitable memorial to the memory of our late lamented president, William McKinley, in accordance with the plans of the McKinley National Memorial association which contemplates a monument at Canton, and a suitable memorial at Washington.

THE TEST OF ABILITY.

Jack was the only boy in the home. The girls don't count for much under these conditions and so while they developed self-reliance and independence, the boy who ruled the household, petted by the mother, and indulged by the father, became a spoiled lad, and long before the age of manhood was reached, he was monarch of the little kingdom called home.

Naturally bright and a good student, he stood well in his classes, and a mother's pride led him to believe that he was the peer of all his associates. His father regarded him as the one member of the family who was to perpetuate the name, and while too busy to give him much attention, he found time to flatter him with fulsome commendation, and swell him up with unhealthy pride.

The years went by and Jack was ready to strike out for himself. No particular thought had been given as to what he could do, and so he was possessed of the foolish notion that he could do anything.

He packed his trunk and started from his little home town for the city, swelled out of shape with the notion that his advent would cause a commotion in business circles, but he soon discovered that no one was waiting for him.

Every avenue seemed crowded and after answering several advertisements, he found that the demand for young men who could do anything and everything was extremely light, and that the atmosphere of home and the busy outside world was as different as the extremes of temperature.

He was no longer his mother's pet and his father's pride, but simply a specimen of ordinary young manhood, none too well equipped for the struggle of life.

He found the city crowded with young men just as well dressed as himself, with faces equally intelligent, and he discovered that merit and nothing else was the password to success.

The experience that came to this boy from the home of unhelpful surroundings, is being duplicated every day by young men who start out into life from similar environments, impressed with the notion that they are just a little better than average humanity.

They have not only been shielded from care and responsibility, but they have been taught that labor is undignified. The spoiled boy develops the weak man, and with rare exception the boy who is permitted to go into life with false notions of manhood, never recovers. Contact with daily experience may knock off some of the corners, but he seldom takes kindly to the knocks. He feels that he is cast in a finer mold, and occupies a pedestal a little higher than his fellows, and the busy world has neither the time nor the patience to disabuse his mind.

There is nothing that counts for success in this matter of fact world, but ability. A young man may possess a good presence, a pocket full of money and a wardrobe to correspond. He may be cultured, and popular in society, a good companion, and a model of propriety. All are good in the way of possession, but more is required.

He may be honest and conscientious, and he may add to these graces, piety, but unless he possesses merit and ability the road to success will never be discovered.

The average mind is capable of mastering one thing in the way of a profession or calling and only one. What this one thing shall be is an important question, so important that it should be decided before the boy leaves home, and once wisely decided every energy should be bent to its accomplishment. If the father and mother lack the ability to study the bent of mind, and traits of character, and are possessed of the false notion that the boy equipped with an education, can do anything that any other boy can do, simply because he is their boy, then the young man should seek the advice of a teacher or friend in whom he has confidence, and settle the most important question that ever comes to young manhood.

The father may argue that he has never given the matter much thought. He has paid the bills for his education, and spent money enough on him to make a doctor or a lawyer. There is no reason why he should not succeed in either profession, and so the boy studies law or medicine, and hangs out a shingle. He becomes an indifferent practitioner, and fools away a life that might have been useful and full of merit, if some one had discovered the genius for the one thing in which he might have excelled.

The mother thinks that her boy ought to be a preacher. She has prayed over it, and when he reluctantly takes up a theological course and later is settled as a pastor, she thanks God that her prayers have been answered. But what of the boy? He discovers before many years that deserted pews and meager support are not the most flattering endorsement, and then he realizes with disappointment that somebody made a mistake.

This busy life is a life of sharp, and not always friendly competition. The man in business soon discovers that he has no corner on trade, and that his neighbor across the way, has just as much capital, just as good a store, is wide awake and hustling, and if he would hold his own he must not only meet him, at every point, but go him one better, and so every energy is bent under the spur of competition.

The manufacturer finds himself in the same position, and unless he possesses the ability and foresight to keep up with the procession, adding to his plant new machinery and the improvements that inventive genius provide, he will soon be lost in the race. It is more than a question of honesty. That is expected of every man in business. It is a question of ability to apply knowledge that is gained by the close study of conditions in the hard and practical school of every day life.

What is true in the commercial and industrial world, is equally true in every other department. The teacher, the lawyer, the preacher, may not call it competition, but that is the proper name for it. Not a lack of knowledge, but the lack of ability to apply it by methods that win. Not a lack of opportunity, for the world is rich in chances to go forward, and occupy front rank positions.

The test of ability comes to every man and woman before they reach middle life, and every department in the busy workshop is applying this test every day. There is no mother to excuse or no father to flatter. The methods are so subtle and intangible that they are difficult to recognize, and yet they are in constant use. Men and women drop out of the ranks, or drop back to make place for others, and wonder why fortune frowns on them, while it has only smiled for their more fortunate companions, failing to recognize that they have been tested, and found wanting.

There is no royal road to wealth or success, but there is a hard beaten path that winds its way toward the top, and at every turn may be seen the guide board with its homely yet practical inscription, "Ability is the passport to success."

WHAT OF THE POPULACE?

Janesville has a population of about fourteen thousand.

It is a model city in many respects and free from crime.

A small police force preserve order and there is seldom cause for complaint.

It has a well equipped fire department that is a model of excellence.

It has a school system and equipment second to no city in the state.

It has five hundred business establishments, and professional offices, intelligently equipped.

Clubs and societies flourish and every taste for amusement or culture is gratified.

The matter of church going with many people is largely a matter of habit, and it is a good habit to cultivate. Janesville churches deserve better patronage.

It has an oper ahouse, an athletic park, a golf ground, and a summer resort, all well patronized.

It has fourteen churches, with a seating capacity for 8,000 people and with 5,000 communicants.

These churches are seldom crowded and it is safe to say that half the people of the city never visit them.

The "organs" of the administration are busily engaged in encouraging harmony, by reading out of the party all men and papers that do not agree with them. The lion and the lamb appears to be the only method, and to their distorted vision they are pursuing the lamb.

The Marshfield Times, one of the best weeklies in the state, has just celebrated its twenty-third birthday. May it continue to prosper.

W. J. Bryan has lost his hold in Nebraska, in spite of the fact that he worked over time during the campaign. The Commoner is a great exponent of Bryanism, but the common people of the state do the voting.

There is room at the top, but no way has yet been discovered to reach it from above. Climbing is not pleasant, but it pays.

PRESS COMMENT

Fond du Lac Reporter: It is easier to explain how La Follette was tempted by that special train with which to campaign the state of Wisconsin, than it is to make the people believe it was a legitimate transaction. A man who preaches anti-pass and then accepts a whole train, establishes a record for weakness not admired by men who believe that the office should seek the man.

Eau Claire Leader: A western Kansas editor published the following notice the other day for the guidance of delinquent subscribers: "If you have frequent headaches, dizziness, fainting spells, accompanied by chills, cramps, corns, bunions, chilblains, epilepsy and jaundice, it is a sign you are not well, but you are liable to die in a minute. Pay your subscription a year in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice."

Superior Telegram: The reports are to the effect that France is about to receive satisfaction from Turkey. This comes from the promptness and spirit exhibited by France in making the naval demonstration before the sultan. It has recently been learned that while the sultan is a very slow man to pay he does hurry when in the presence of a formidable war ship.

Cautious But Inconsiderate Man. The young wife was weeping when her mother called.

"It's all because of John," she wailed. "He's a brute and he doesn't love me any more. I asked him if I wasn't the dearest little wife in the world."

"I know, I know," interrupted the elderly woman. "And he said his checkbook indicated that you were."

"No, he didn't."

"Well, husbands must have changed since I was a bride. What did he say?"

"He said, very cautiously, 'Well, you know my dear, I haven't seen them all.'"

He Knew. The kind hearted lady picked the lad up and brushed off his clothes.

"My poor boy," she said sympathetically, "whatever made you take such an awful fall?"

"It's very easy," replied the burlesque favorite, "unless you happen to be lame. All you have to do is to walk from the dressing room to the stage."

The man who was preparing an arithmetic which the board of education had agreed in advance to adopt shook his head.

"It won't do," he said. "The example is all right, but it is too plainly stated. Just twist it around a little and put in some words that will make it uncertain what you mean and I will use it. We mustn't permit any common sense to get into this book."—Chicago Post.

Use of Oatmeal Feedings.

Whether Scotsmen generally are getting off their porridge in the morning, or oatmeal cakes becoming less common, it is hard to tell, but experts, after looking carefully into the matter gave it as their opinion that the consumption of oatmeal is falling off in Scotland, or, at least, is not keeping pace with the increase in population. Possibly the "long lie and the tea breakfast" are not so much confined to Sunday as they used to be, and "haleome parritch" is no longer the distinctive national dish in the country of Burns and Scott.

Animals Like Perfumes.

Nearly all animals are fond of one kind or another of perfumes; lions and tigers delight in the odor of the attar of rose; cats are extravagantly fond of catnip, and wolves and several other kinds of wild animals delight in the smell of assafoetida.

M'KINLEY, SOLDIER.

CAREER OF THE MARTYRED PRESIDENT IN THE ARMY.

Served Faithfully in the Ranks While in His Teens—Promoted to Be Sergeant, Lieutenant, Captain and Brevet Major—At Cedar Creek.

(Copyright, 1901, by G. L. Kilmer.)

WILLIAM M'KINLEY's chair was vacant at the banquet of the Twenty-third Ohio regiment given in Cleveland during the Grand Army encampment. This does not mean simply that the place of Sergeant or Captain or Major McKinley had to be taken for the occasion by some one else, but that a comrade who had touched elbows with the men all along the line from private in the ranks to staff and field officer was among the absent on a festive occasion. The Twenty-third veterans had anticipated a handshake and a talk over old times with "Black." The halls of congress, the governor's chamber, the executive mansion, could not take away anything characteristic of the "old boy" of the camp and bivouac or add a veneer which other old boys could not penetrate for the hour of the campfire reunion.

The Grand Army button is a great leveler of rank. With that in his buttonhole, President William McKinley wouldn't wish to be and wouldn't assume to be anything more than the "Bill" or "Black" of his teens, forty years ago, when he enlisted to follow the flag among 1,000 other boys of apparently the same destiny in the ranks of the Twenty-third Ohio volunteers.

But the boy wasn't at the banquet in person, so his comrades were more than ever given to reminiscences of the days of 1861 in which the absent one held the hero's place. And it wasn't necessary to embellish the record at all in order to bring the president into the history of those times. "Private William McKinley" served in the ranks of Company E fourteen months, a term long enough, in the experience of a regiment in the field, to stamp a boy as a soldier. When the boy had become a governor of Ohio, he recalled that phase of his life in the following language: "I always look back with pleasure upon those fourteen months which I served in the ranks. They taught me a great deal. I was but a schoolboy when I went into the army and that first year was a formative period in my life, during which I learned much of men and affairs. I have always been glad that I entered the service as a private and served those months in that capacity."

The first year of service of the Twenty-third was passed in West Virginia in wild and rough campaigning, skirmishing, scouting and foraging, a handful meeting a handful of the enemy, sometimes whipping and sometimes getting whipped. It was a good school for the hard times to come. Here is one of the Grand Army stories of those times which reach further than the ranks of the Twenty-third Ohio: Among the Federal soldiers captured at Gauley Bridge in 1861 was Private Merriam of the Seventeenth Ohio. He was detained in camp in West Virginia some weeks, and the Confederate surgeons amputated his arm. At that time Major Rutherford B. Hayes commanded the battalion in which McKinley served and hovered near the prison camp on the opposite side of the Gauley till a chance offered to steal across and rescue the wounded prisoners.

A crossing was finally made one dark night by means of a raft of logs bound together with grapevines. On this floating bridge the men of the Twenty-third braved the swift current of the river and, pulling it close to shore, made a rush for the prison guard. McKinley was one of the first ashore, and, rushing to the camp, he said to the first man stumbled upon: "Get up, Johnny! We want you." He was not talking to a "Johnny," as he supposed, but to the one armed Ohio boy, Merriam.

Merriam got up, and McKinley supported him back to the river, where he placed him on the raft and after the others had been gathered in took charge of him until he was in the hands of the friendly surgeons. Merriam was very grateful for the care given him in the confusion of that night, for his stump was very tender. He inquired the name of his rescuer and learned that he was known on the raft simply as Bill McKinley. War to soldiers at the front is not always a matter of fighting, and so the stories of comrades and comrades do not always relate to deeds of "derring do." McKinley might have shot a dozen Confederates that night on Gauley river, and neither he nor his captain nor his comrades would have been the wiser. Shooting at the enemy was commonplace, but rescuing wounded captives and showing kindness to an unknown comrade was an incident not to be forgotten even in the hurry of war.

Another episode of McKinley's career in the ranks would have made him a hero at a regimental campfire if he had never been president. Soldiers must eat or they can't fight, and if there is nothing to eat they will get along on black coffee. And in a situation like that of the Twenty-third on the firing line at Antietam coffee is out of the question. The enemy will at least shoot at the fires and sometimes charge upon them to get at the men around them. Even cold water was hard to get on the front line at Antietam.

During the battle McKinley was commissary sergeant of the brigade and stationed at the supply depot. Ordinarily a man in that place thinks he has a soft thing of it, smokes his pipe and regales himself on Uncle Sam's supplies while the troops are fighting. Sergeant McKinley knew himself just how it was with the tired, hungry and thirsty boys of the Twenty-third that awful night, and he loaded up two army wagons with hot coffee and other rations to relieve the famishing fighters. He had no men to help in the work, but there were shirks and stragglers idling around the stores, and he pressed them into the service of their country. The regiment lay under fire, and the way to them led through a zone of fire. The team on one wagon was shot down by the enemy's rifles, but to a plucky boy sergeant that was another reason for going ahead. He got the coffee and other rations into the hands of the men and was cheered more lustily than if he had stormed a battery. It isn't necessary to credit a soldier with "twoscore and ten" battles, as do some of McKinley's biographers, to show the right stuff in him. He can show it in one battle, and McKinley did it in more than one. He was not a politician's pet. Six months he served as second lieutenant and a year and a half as first lieutenant. Then he was made captain at the age of twenty-one, three years after his enlistment. While holding the rank of lieutenant McKinley commanded his company. Afterward he became a staff officer, with splendid opportunities for cheap distinction if he burned for it or for faithful work under fire.

McKinley's commission as captain was given him by his superior officer for a deed of gallantry at Winchester. The corps had been defeated in battle and was cutting its way out when it was discovered that the Thirteenth West Virginia regiment had not fallen back and was in danger of capture. Lieutenant McKinley was ordered to go out alone and if the regiment had not been captured warn it and pilot it back to the line. It was a daring ride. Shells were exploding over the whole field and in some places clouds of smoke obscured the way. His commander and comrades watched anxiously for his fate. But he delivered his orders and came back untouched, with the regiment following. Again he was cheered on the battlefield, this time by a whole brigade of soldiers. Six weeks later in a night attack his horse was shot under him while with General Hayes forming the line for battle. This was all during Sheridan's campaign in the Shenandoah valley, and there were battles every month or so. McKinley was in them all.

At Opequan McKinley assumed responsibility which saved a whole brigade from disaster. He was sent out to bring a brigade into a position where a division had moved and left a gap in the line. "By what route shall I move my command?" said the commander. "I would move up this creek," responded the young aid modestly. "I will not budge without definite orders," said the other.

"But, general, this is an emergency, and I order you by command of Major General Crook to move your brigade up this ravine to position on the right of the army." The brigade moved accordingly, ran into a lively fight and won the day by being at the right place at the right time. That, too, is the work of a soldier, to unite brains with force of character.

It was glory enough for one life to have been with Sheridan at Cedar Creek, but it was McKinley's privilege to be more than a passive agent in bringing victory from disaster. In his memoirs Sheridan tells of his reception at the front when he rode "from Winchester down to save the day." He says: "At Mill Creek my escort fell behind, and we were going ahead at a regular pace when, just as we made the crest of the rise beyond the stream, there burst upon our view the appalling spectacle of a panic stricken army—hundreds of slightly wounded men, throngs of others unhurt, but utterly demoralized, and baggage wagons by the score, all pressing to the rear in hopeless confusion. I said nothing except to remark to those on the road, 'If I had been with you this morning, this disaster would not have happened. We must face the other way. We will go back and recover our camp.' At Newtown I was obliged to make a circuit to the left to get around the village. I could not pass through it, the streets were so crowded; but, meeting Major McKinley of General Crook's staff, he spread the news of my return through the motley throng there." McKinley had just placed a battery in position "facing the other way" when Sheridan dashed up to form for the charge.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY IN 1861.

(Company E, Twenty-third Ohio volunteers.)

HIS BRIGHT THOUGHT.

It Cured His Wife of Going Through His Pockets.

"You know," said the man from St. Louis, "how innocently your wife will look at you across the breakfast table when you have searched your pockets and discovered a $10 bill missing. You may have your suspicions, but you must keep them to yourself. I stood it for two or three years before a bright thought came along. Then I got hold of a counterfeit five, placed it with my wad, and when I got up one morning and missed it I felt happy. Two hours after breakfast my wife went out, and at noon I was sent for to identify her at the police station. She had handed that bogus five out in payment for an umbrella and been nabbed, and she had been a prisoner for two hours when I got there."

"And what did you say?" was asked. "Not a word."

"And what did she say?" "She laid it off on the milkman, of course."

"But there were results?"

"Oh, yes. Since that time I have left my wad under my pillow, under the bed, in my pants or on the stand and have never missed a penny. Once in a while my wife looks at me reproachfully and clinches her fingers and breathes hard, but no words follow. She can't find any to fit her feelings."

A Choice of Cures.

"I can't help stealin', boss. I'm a kleptomaniac."

"Oh, well, I can cure you of that by hypnosis."

A Frank Analysis.

"Who is your favorite composer?" inquired the visitor. "I s'pose you mean classical," responded Mr. Cumrox. "Certainly."

"Wagner," was the answer. "Gimme Wagner. Some of these other music writers start in with a tune, but as soon as you get your foot going steady in time to it they break it off in a way that pretty near spins your ankle. But Wagner never fools you. He plays fair. You know from the beginning that you ain't going to find anything, and you might as well go to sleep or read the advertisements in the programme."—Washington Star.

Lonely Homes

A home is never complete without children. Yet many homes are childless. Many wives are desolate for the lack of a child to love. Their lives are aimless—void of the high motives of motherhood. While barrenness is causing incalculable sadness and sorrow, it exists in most cases on account of some little female trouble, which Wine of Cardui would speedily set right. This pure Wine regulates the disordered female organs by building up the worn out nerves and regulating the menstrual flow. It restores the fallen womb to its proper place. By strengthening the generative organs, it makes pregnancy possible where barrenness exists. You can depend on

WINE OF CARDUI

Suffering women all over the land have been depending on it for seventy-five years. No more convincing proof can be given than the testimony of Mrs. Benson, who is only one of thousands of women to whom Wine of Cardui has brought a permanent cure. Many cases of miscarriage—that trouble which robs mothers of their hopes—have been avoided by timely use of the Wine. You are asked to try Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught, its companion medicine. Nine out of ten cases of female trouble, barrenness included, yield to them. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Last May I had a miscarriage, which was followed by flooding. I read your Almanac and my husband got me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and it cured my flooding and restored my fallen womb to its place. Now I am cured after taking three bottles and have another to take which I got this morning. I am expecting to become a mother and Wine of Cardui will be my doctor.

PROVED GUILTY

Several years ago I attended the superior court for the county of —. A case of murder was tried. The evidence disclosed that the deceased and the prisoner had been drinking together and had quarreled; that the prisoner had struck the deceased; that he had sworn he would be the death of him; that through the intercession of the bystanders a patched up reconciliation had taken place, willingly on the part of the deceased, doggedly by accused; that the deceased had started to go home by his usual route and that the prisoner had immediately followed him, although his home was in a contrary direction; that sounds of strife were heard shortly after; that the deceased had never again been heard of; that, suspicion having fallen upon the prisoner, his steps upon the night of the difficulty had been traced; that marks of a struggle had been found upon the earth and drops of congealed blood, and that the accused, having been asked to account for the deceased, denied that he had ever seen him after the moment that he left on the night of the difficulty.

The defense was conducted by the prisoner in person, and it was evident to me that, although the calm and collected manner in which it was made had its impression upon the judge, it had none upon the jurors or bystanders. They had made up their minds as to his guilt and were determined that his life should be taken. The solicitor general closed the case. He dwelt with burning and bitter eloquence upon the crime of murder. He spoke of the cool and deliberate manner of the prisoner and reproached him as one who could look like a cannibal over the mangled remains of his victim.

He dwelt with great minuteness, clearness and ingenuity upon the train of circumstances "which could not lie," and he threw a web of guilt around the prisoner that no one doubted would involve him in destruction, but still the prisoner quailed not. The judge summed up the case to the jury, narrating the circumstances and unfolding the law. He admitted that the facts were very strong against the accused, but that one material link was wanting. It had not been proved that Grimes was dead. He concluded by admonishing them that they should not convict unless they had sufficient evidence of that fact.

But this caution was thrown away upon the excited feelings of the jury, who without retiring made up their verdict of guilty, and the foreman was in the act of signing it when the prisoner again rose.

"I ask permission of the court," said he, "to call a witness who, I think, will relieve me of this diabolical charge, who will prove that my hands are not red with my brother's blood, who will show the impropriety and danger of a conviction upon circumstantial evidence—in short, who will satisfactorily convince the malignant and demonlike heart of the solicitor general that I am innocent of this crime."

"Have you any objection, Mr. Solicitor General?" asked the judge.

"None," responded the state's attorney, with a bitter sneer, "but if he wishes to convince me and to save his neck from the gallows he had better produce John Grimes."

"That is precisely the witness I seek to introduce," said the prisoner. "Mr. Sheriff, call John Grimes."

The proposition created great excitement. Some of the bystanders laughed aloud. Others heaped bitter execrations upon the prisoner. The solicitor general sneeringly asked him if he would have him called again, and the judge was evidently fast changing his favorable opinion of the prisoner, who, he thought, was trifling with the court. I turned to the culprit and was amazed at the terrible change that had taken place in his countenance. Its placidity and composure were gone. It was covered with livid spots, and immense drops of perspiration were rolling rapidly from his brow.

"Call again, in God's name!" shouted he at the top of his voice.

The sheriff repeated the call. The storm that had been slumbering for a short time now burst forth with tenfold violence. The rain beat furiously upon the shingled roof, the wind howled and moaned like a condemned culprit, and several of the large pine trees that surrounded the building fell with a tremendous crash, startling the already excited inhabitants of the courtroom. It was an awful scene without. It was a still more awful one within. The unearthly appearance of the prisoner, the sudden and awful change that had taken place in him, his solemn adjuration and his earnest manner, all had deeply affected the bystanders, and many looked as if they really expected to see the murdered man arise at the invocation. All were gratified save the implacable solicitor general, who sat scowling at the accused with a look of triumph and fiendish exultation on his countenance. The judge rallied himself and motioned to the foreman of the jury to proceed, when suddenly an individual arose, no one knew from where, and, striding to the witness stand and throwing off a huge cloak which enveloped his form, disclosed to the horror-stricken and amazed crowd the features of John Grimes.

Long afterward I learned that there had been a bet between the prisoner and his supposed victim bearing on the weight of circumstantial evidence.

After the Race.

"So your horse was distanced, was he?"

"Yes."

"Did you have anything on him?"

"I thought I had a jockey on him, but it seems I didn't."—Richmond Dispatch.

BEESWAX USED AS MONEY.

It Passes Current in the Hardware Trade All Over the Country.

It will surprise many people to learn that in almost every part of the United States there is something that merchants regard just as good as the cold cash. That something seems common-place, for it is nothing more than beeswax. But it is only in one branch of trade that beeswax is current, and that this one the average person would least suppose—the hardware line. The reason why hardware stores handle beeswax was explained the other day by a prominent wholesale dealer. It appears that all through the south, as well as in other parts of the country, the tin peddlers swap their wares for beeswax, which they get very cheap. They make a nice profit on their tinware in the trade, and they also get a profit on the beeswax when they turn it over to the retailers in hardware. The beeswax passes from them to the wholesale hardware men in the cities and they ship it in barrels to New York. Wholesale hardware dealers often receive notices from customers that they have shipped a certain number of barrels of beeswax to apply on account. Beeswax is always a staple article and in the trade is just as good as the cash at all times. Like many other goods it sometimes fluctuates in price, but there is always a steady demand for it at the market value. Before the patent hives and honeycombs came into use some years ago the wholesale price of beeswax was 25 cents a pound. Where large numbers of bees were kept the patent comb was used, and the consequence was that the bees didn't have to manufacture any comb, and in the course of a year the production of wax decreased so much that the price went up to 70 cents a pound wholesale. It went even higher than that for a while, and then it fell again, but it has never got back to where it was before the patents were adopted. If it were not for the tens of thousands of small beekeepers who cling to the old style of handling bees, the price of beeswax would be more than $1 a pound.

Last of the Texas Long Horns.

One of the most noted and valuable long-horned cattle in the world is the famous Texas steer Geronimo, named after the celebrated Indian chief. He is as fierce and dangerous as was his namesake. He is said to be 36 years old and his great horns measure nine feet six inches from tip to tip, three to four feet being the length of the average horned steer. Geronimo is almost the last of the type of long-horned Texas cattle in this country. This breed, which has until recent years figured in the development of the great southwest, is fast becoming extinct. The Texas steer and the cowboy will soon be known in story only—they are both "passing." The cattle are vanishing before the onward movement of blooded stock from the north and east. The Bureau of Animal Industry, wishing to preserve a pictorial record of the last survivor of so famous an American breed and type, had Geronimo photographed recently. Geronimo has taken many state and national prizes at various live stock shows.

"Dizziness and headaches cannot be cured in any other manner than by getting at the root of the trouble and curing the cause."

The cause is almost invariably a disordered digestive system, or else a bad stomach and clogged bowels are responsible. Laxakola, the great Tonic Laxative, is an unfailing cure.

It works gently and painlessly and at the same time acts as a tonic to the bowels, stomach, liver and kidneys and builds up the system instead of weakening and irritating it as other laxatives do.

Its remarkable properties reach every organ—the liver, kidneys and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure. Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine.

It tastes good. Children like it and ask for it.

LAXAKOLA FOR WOMEN.
It is a gentle and safe remedy to use during all conditions of health of the gentler sex whenever their peculiar and delicate constitutions require a mild and efficient laxative and tonic, and is invaluable in assisting to relieve obstructions which otherwise would lead to more or less severe pain or illness. It improves the complexion, brightens the eyes, sharpens the appetite, quickens the circulation, removes muddy and blotched condition of the skin and cures sick headache to a certainty by removing the cause.

To women suffering from chronic constipation, headaches, biliousness, dizziness, sallowness of the skin and dyspepsia, Laxakola will invariably bring relief. At druggists, 25c and 50c, or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 123 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 350 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

BLOOD ON TUB REVEALED SECRET

Game Wardens on Opening Supposed Tub of Butter This Morning, Found Ducks.

Game wardens here this morning confiscated a tub of supposed butter at the Chicago & Northwestern passenger depot. The wardens spying blood on the outside of the tub hurriedly opened the same and there found several canvas back ducks that were billed to Chicago parties. It is said that the tub was shipped direct from this city after the ducks had been sent here from Koshkonong. No arrests have as yet been made. The ducks and tub are now in the hands of the wardens.

TELLS A STORY ON OGDEN H. FETHERS

A story about Ogden H. Fethers of Janesville, chancellor of the supreme lodge, K. of P., who was in the city Wednesday evening and was the guest of the Loyal Legion commandery at the "Eldest Sons" banquet, was told by one of his friends at an East Side hotel to a Milwaukee Sentinel reporter yesterday.

"Mr. Fethers was appointed by President McKinley, a vice president of the Paris Exposition commission," said the narrator, "and after the close of the exposition the president gave the members of the commission a dinner at the White House. This was shortly after the elevation of Mr. Fethers at Detroit to the office of supreme grand chancellor. After dinner and when the guests were assembled in one of the attractive rooms of the White House, the commissioners had a social visit with the president. Mr. Fethers found an opportunity to thank him for an opportunity to visit the exposition under the most favorable circumstances. President McKinley replied: 'It was my purpose to make good appointments, and particularly in your case, Mr. Fethers, my judgment has been confirmed by the action of the supreme grand lodge at Detroit.'"

Rockton a Distributing Point
For the Janesville-Rockford electric line, six carload of railroad ties have arrived at Rockton, Ill., near Beloit. Seventy-five more cars are expected within the next few days. Rockton is made a general distributing point for material and it is becoming a grave question as to room to put it. A pile of ties, nearly a mile in length, is already there and the steel will require no small amount of room.

Miss Stone's Case Stirs Up President Roosevelt.

STATE DEPARTMENT'S VIEWS.

Secretary Hay Thinks Both Turkey and Bulgaria Should Be Compelled, by Force if Necessary, to Get Handicapped Reports to White House.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—"The plan by which France coerced Turkey and the success of that plan are both a justification and a precedent for action by the United States with respect both to Turkey and Bulgaria.

"It has been demonstrated by French diplomacy that it is possible to deal with Turkey summarily without precipitating an international war."

The foregoing are official views which have been conveyed by the State Department to the White House, and which will be the keynotes of important diplomatic representations, both to Turkey and Bulgaria, growing out of the Miss Stone incident, which is extremely embarrassing and annoying to the President. The settlement of the French claims will be followed promptly by a statement of policy by the President toward Turkey and Bulgaria, which will be in the form of an ultimatum and will bring both of these powers to terms, even if a repetition of the prompt and decisive naval demonstrations of France is necessary.

Smyrna, in Asia Minor, is the port at which the State Department casts its eye, and no doubt it would be seized by an American squadron should circumstances demand it to enforce the President's demands. President Roosevelt is exasperated. He will not let Turkey or Bulgaria ignore the desire of this government that the Miss Stone incident cease to be an open question. The Chief Executive proposes to show in the early part of his administration that American citizens must be respected and protected everywhere. President Roosevelt feels that the United States navy is strong enough to make its claims good anywhere in the world, either alone or in a combination that can always be secured. Secretary Hay believes prompt and drastic measures are necessary to force Turkey and Bulgaria to action if Miss Stone is to be rescued. He believes that demonstration in Turkish waters or the seizure of a custom house will force the Porte to grant better security to American citizens within his territory.

Bulgaria Taken to Task.
Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 9.—The government has caused the arrest of a man who was visiting United States Consul General Dickinson and searched him, presumably thinking he was an emissary of the brigands and expecting to seize a communication from or to Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary. The man was subsequently released. This action of the authorities was, seemingly, a deliberate attempt to frighten delegates who might visit Mr. Dickinson and thus prevent negotiations from taking place in Bulgarian territory. The attitude of the authorities hampers Mr. Dickinson, as the brigands refuse to treat in Turkey. Mr. Dickinson, in his reply to Miss Stone's letter, urged the brigands to still further reduce their demands and accept the amount subscribed, in view of the determination of the government not to contribute toward the ransom and the impossibility of collecting further subscriptions.

Brigands Expected to Agree.
It is believed the brigands will agree to this, as they are now beginning to feel hard pressed and want money for current expenses, such as bribery of officials, peasants and others. The letter insists that the surrender of the prisoners must precede or be simultaneous with the payment, but leaves the question of the place open. A messenger has brought a letter from Miss Stone, written in English. All the previous communications from Miss Stone have been in Bulgarian. The letter says she is still well and gives valu-

WOMAN FLEES FROM HOSPITAL.

Health Not Returning Causes Mrs. Joseph Salsman to Give Hospital Authorities a Scare.

Chicago, Ill., (Special Telegram). Yesterday morning the Mercy Hospital attendants were mystified at the disappearance of Mrs. Joseph Salsman.

It was believed for a time that she had committed suicide, but after a diligent search aided by the police, she was discovered in the home of a nearby friend.

When interviewed she said, "I had heard of several persons that had been restored to health by using Dr. Arnold's Nerve Family Tea and decided to try it myself. A friend advised me to come to her home and I did so, thinking that she would notify the hospital clerk. Since leaving the hospital I have taken two cups of this tea and feel much better even now. In two or three days I shall be around again, I am sure."

Express Messenger Is Shot.
Grand Island, Neb., Nov. 9.—Z. T. Fishner, a Wells-Fargo express messenger, was found in a dying condition in his car on a St. Joseph and Grand Island train when it arrived at Elwood, Neb. There were two bullet holes just below the heart. The man was unable to tell anything of the cause of the shooting, and it is not known whether he was shot accidentally or in an attempt to rob the car. Everything in the safe was found intact.

LONG VISIT BY HANNA.

Senator Spends a Large Part of the Day with President.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Senator Hanna paid his first visit to the White House since the beginning of the Roosevelt administration, and it was a long one. The chairman of the Republican national committee arrived at the executive mansion before 11 o'clock and lost no time in gaining admittance to the president's office. It was cabinet day, and when he had been there but a short time the cabinet members began to arrive. Mr. Hanna did not take leave, but remained within, chatting with Secretaries Hay, Gage, Hitchcock, Root and Long, Attorney General Knox and Postmaster General Smith half an hour. Then he retired to another room, where he talked over the affairs of the McKinley Memorial Association with Secretary Cortelyou and John G. Milburn of Buffalo, who are identified with the work of the organization.

CROWDS AT DIS DE BAR TRIAL.

Prominent Persons in All Walks Here.

Sensational London Case.
London, Nov. 9.—The hearing of the charges against Theodore and Laura Jackson (Ann Odella Dis de Bar) at the Marylebone police court here continues to attract crowds. Prominent stage people, including H. B. Irving and Clement Scott, and leaders of the bench, bar, church and parliament were among today's audience.

The male prisoner is ill and was allowed to be seated in the dock. Laura Jackson was continually and ostentatiously administering to him sips of water.

The testimony today was a reiteration of previous evidence. The proceedings were enlivened by several brisk passages between the presiding magistrate and the woman prisoner, the latter informing the court that she was tired of his evident partiality for the witnesses.

Yerkes Denies Report.
London, Nov. 9.—The statement that Charles T. Yerkes paid $80,000 for two Turners has evoked an emphatic denial from that gentleman.

"The price has been greatly exaggerated," said Mr. Yerkes in answer to an inquiry. "I wouldn't pay any such price. Pictures which sell at these absurd figures are as a general rule not worth anything like the amount, and such reports I regard as mischievous to art itself. Foreigners don't pay any such money for works of art. It is left for Americans to do the ridiculous in this respect."

Line Sold to Syndicate.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—The entire system of the Market Street Railway company has practically been sold to a Baltimore syndicate which for several months had been negotiating for its purchase. The deal is understood to have been closed at a conference between H. E. Huntington and I. W. Hellman, representing themselves and other stockholders of the Market street company, and George R. Webb of Baltimore, R. G. Hanford and Attorney General T. L. Ford of this city representing the Baltimore syndicate.

Capt. Redford Sargent Is Dead.
Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Capt. Redford Sargent, marine superintendent of Cramps' shipyard, died of heart trouble, aged about 60 years. He had been ill since Tuesday. Capt. Sargent became connected with Cramps' shipyard about nine years ago. All big vessels built by the Cramps' company during that period have been under the direct command of Capt. Sargent on their builders' and official trials.

"Mother" Bickerdike Is Dead.
Bunker Hill, Kan., Nov. 9.—"Mother" Bickerdike of army fame died of old age. She was born in 1817. Funeral services will be held at Assembly Hall Sunday at 2 p. m.

SAY RINI IS THE SLAYER.

Chicago Police Try to Fasten Natoli Murder on Italian.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Felipi Rini, a peddler, who lived at 192 North Union street, is believed to be the man who murdered Antonio Natoli. He is under arrest.

Pietro Rini, a brother, and Salvatore Belli, sometimes called Gene Belle, who lived in the place with Felipi, have escaped.

Giovanni Scarafari, who also was captured in the house, is detained by the police, though it is not thought he had anything to do with the murder.

The previous theories in regard to the crime were completely upset when a levee woman revealed the plot to Inspector Hartnett at the Harrison street police station. Inspector Kalas of the West Chicago avenue station had been laboring under the supposition that the three prisoners he had were the guilty men. Now he is forced to admit that he has little evidence against Michelo Leon, Dominick Duehl and Dominick Veroni. These three men may be released soon.

Carpenter Union Loses Cash.

It is officially announced at Philadelphia that P. J. McGuire, temporarily suspended general secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, is short in his accounts $10,074.93, and a warrant for his arrest has been issued. The general executive board also preferred specific charges of breach of trust against him. A vote by the 1,000 local unions of the brotherhood has been ordered, to be returned on or before Dec. 10, on the advisability of making Mr. McGuire's suspension permanent. He was one of the founders of the American Federation of Labor, as well as the Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Collisions in the Fog.

London, Nov. 9.—The fog has lifted and vessels damaged in collisions have been arriving at various ports. The British steamer Middleton from Buenos Ayres Oct. 15 for Hamburg, and the British steamer Scotlan, which arrived Oct. 21 from Palermo, collided off the Goodwin Sands. Both vessels sustained damage, and the Middleton is full of water.

Ship Wrecked; One Life Lost.

Kincardine, Ont., Nov. 9.—The old schooner Eureka was wrecked in the gale on Lake Huron yesterday. The crew took to the raft, and were all finally saved except the wife of the mate, Mrs. Arthur Baker, who succumbed to exposure.

Hunter Accidentally Shot.

New York, Nov. 9.—Dr. C. E. Spalter of this city was accidentally killed in Long Island sound, off New Rochelle, N. Y., by Dr. Edward E. Tull, also of this city, while duck hunting. Dr. Tull was passing a gun to Dr. Spalter when in some manner it was discharged, Dr. Spalter receiving the load of shot in the head and dying instantly. Dr. Spalter was about 27 years of age. He came from Keene, N. H.

Actress Goes Mad on Car.

Sadie Claffin of New York, a member of The Village Parson company, was taken from a train in Fort Dodge, Iowa, violently insane. Her clothing had been torn and disordered in her struggles and while she waited in the station for an ambulance to take her to the hospital it required four men to restrain her. Miss Claffin was taken suddenly insane while on the train. Her insanity is considered to be directly due to a morbid interest in spiritualism which she has manifested recently, having attended several seances. For some time past she has suffered from melancholia. Physicians extend small hopes for her recovery.

Refused by Coleman Younger.

Coleman Younger, the former train robber, now out on parole, has been offered the position of captain of police of Minneapolis, and, after a consultation with his friends, has refused the place. He is now engaged as a clerk in a St. Paul grocery store, and the position of captain of police would pay him much better, but he argued that it would bring with it notoriety, which he desires to avoid. The Younger brothers, Coleman and James, announce that they do not wish to commit any act that will cause the authorities to regret having granted them a parole after twenty-five years' imprisonment.

CAUGHT IN ANTARCTIC ICE.

Vessel Ran Into Ice Flashes 100 Miles from Cape Horn.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—The first vessel to be caught in Antarctic ice this season, a remarkable experience, owing to the fact that the ice was within 100 miles of Cape Horn, was the sugar laden bark Nuuanu, which has been docked at the Spreckels sugar refinery after a run of 123 days from the Hawaiian Islands. The Nuuanu left Honolulu in June last, and after having encountered two severe gales in the Pacific ocean, was caught in the field ice in the early part of September while rounding Cape Horn on her way to the Atlantic ocean. Far to the south nothing but drift ice could be seen. The sea was smooth and there was no sign of land. The weather was fair at the time and this enabled the Nuuanu to work her way into clear water. Capt. Josslyn, the vessel's master, calculated that the ice was about 100 miles south of Cape Horn.

JAMES CALLAHAN ACQUITTED.

Alleged Accomplice of Pat Crowe in Cudahy Kidnaping Set Free.

Omaha, Nov. 9.—James Callahan, charged with the kidnaping of Eddle Cudahy and subsequently with perjury in connection with his defense, has been finally set free. The jury in the perjury case brought in a verdict of not guilty after being out thirty-three hours. The delay was due to debate on the subject of Callahan's mus-tache, which the prisoner swore had been shaved off before the date of the kidnaping, but which other witnesses distinctly remembered subsequent to that event. Callahan has been in jail nine months. There is now little to prevent Pat Crowe from returning to Omaha. The evidence on which Callahan has been tried would probably prevail in the case of Crowe.

Schley Court Begins Review.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Admiral Dewey and his colleagues on the Schley court of inquiry have plunged right into the work of reviewing the testimony adduced at the public sessions of the court. They had all the records, including documents, books, dispatches, letters and memoranda which were in constant use before the court at the gunners' shop removed to their temporary office in the McLean building. The court will hold daily sessions until it reaches a decision. Admiral Schley will remain in Washington until that time. His counsel, General Rayner and Captain Parker, have gone to their respective homes.

Deep hollows, dark circles, wrinkles at the corners, tell the story of pain and sleeplessness. Much of the nervousness, sleeplessness and suffering in general, endured by women, is caused by a diseased condition of the womanly organs. When that diseased condition is cured there are no more hollow, dark ringed eyes. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity, inflammation, ulceration, and female weakness, stops enfeebling drains, strengthens the nervous system and gives to the mother health for her duties, and happiness in their performance.

"My niece was troubled with female weakness for about four years before I asked for your advice," writes Mr. J. W. McGregor, of 603 St. and Princeton Ave., Chicago, Ill. "You advised her to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which she did faithfully for nine months, and now we must acknowledge to you that she is a well woman. BEEF SUPPLY SAID TO BE IN DANGER

An Enormous Decrease in the Number of Cattle in the Last Five Years.

Prominent cattle men of the west, who have been investigating are prepared to show that during the last five years there has been an enormous decrease in the number of cattle in this country, a decrease which seriously threatens the beef food supply and that unless speedy action is taken by congress in the course of a few years that only the wealthy can afford the luxury of beef steak.

The cause of this rapid decline in the number of beef cattle is said to be due solely to the contraction of the western public grazing lands and the increase in the consumptive demand. The rapid settlement of the west has caused the ranges to become crowded and this crowded condition has prevented the re-seeding of grasses and consequently millions of acres of once good pasture have been turned into an absolute desert.

Most of the large herds have been dispersed and slaughtered and the bulk of the cattle supply is now furnished by the smaller stockmen but the evolution from the large herds on the open range to the small herds in pastures is to slow owing to unfavorable land conditions, and where a few years ago the markets were supplied with cattle four, five and six years of age, even yearlings are now being slaughtered to make up the supply of beef.

The stock men claim that the unfavorable method of administering the public lands of the west are back of the threatened shortage, and at the coming national convention in Chicago next month an effort will be made to throw the whole matter into congress and ask that a commission be appointed, with expert assistance, to investigate and devise plans for relieving the situation.

Fitzsimmons a Citizen.

New York, Nov. 9.—Robert Fitzsimmons has become a citizen of the United States. Arrayed in a swagger automobile overcoat, with shining silk hat in hand, Bob Fitzsimmons, Australian pugilist, was transformed by Judge Aspinall in Brooklyn. To the judge's questions Fitzsimmons replied briefly. When asked his profession, he said he was at present an actor. Clark Ball, real estate dealer, swore that Fitzsimmons had been in the country twelve years. The actor-pugilist took out his first papers in 1893.

John Rose Identified.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—John Rose, the man suspected of the robbery of an express car on the Great Northern railroad, near Wagner, Mont., on July 3, and who was arrested in this city by detectives, was identified as Harry Longbough, a celebrated western desperado. The identification was made by a St. Louisan, who is now in the employ of a brewing company here, but who was prosecuting attorney of Cook county, Wyoming, in 1887, and prosecuted Longbough in that year on a charge of horse stealing.

Arabian Acrobat Is Killed.

Chester, Pa., Nov. 9.—Ambark Benhadry, 23 years old, an Arabian acrobat, was instantly killed at the Howell street station of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad by an express train. Benhadry lived in New York, and was one of four brothers who have just completed the season with Pawnee Bill's show. The show was going into winter quarters, and in getting off the train the Arabian stepped in front of the express.

Knox Explains Carter's Case.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Attorney General Knox explained to the President and Cabinet the legal situation in the case of Oberlin M. Carter, former United States engineer corps captain. An impression has been created in the public mind that a new trial has been granted to Carter. This is not true. The civil suit in Chicago is to recover funds embezzled from the government.

Liberal Forces Win Battle.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—The state department is in receipt of a dispatch, dated Oct. 28, from the United States Consul General at Panama, reporting that the Liberal forces have captured the town of Tumaco, south of Panama about 500 miles. They took 400 to 600 soldiers prisoners and captured five or six cannons, many rifles, a quantity of ammunition, and one small ship, the Gaitan.

Roosevelt to Await Session.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt has decided not to make any more appointments of importance until Congress meets. All recess appointees must be reappointed upon the assembling of Congress, and the President thinks that all the larger appointments should be held up until he can send the names directly to the senate.

SOME NEW BOOKS

"A Nest of Linnets," by J. Frankfort Moore, author of "The Jessamy Bride," "A Gray Eye or So," etc. Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50. This charming romance is in the vein the author developed so happily in "The Jessamy Bride," and it is in many respects a more mature and important work. The story is exceedingly happy in its delicate reproduction of eighteenth century atmosphere. The love scenes are placed before the reader with a daintiness and grace admirably befitting the finer aspects of the period. The incidents and adventures of the romance—for there are stirring adventures—are witnessed, shared in or gossiped about by brilliant figures of the time, as Sheridan, Walpole, and Selwyn; while the ponderous presence of Dr. Johnson, makes itself felt here and there, and Goldsmith appears as a more modest member of the company. The quality and character of a fascinating tale have been aptly realized by the author. His work promises to mark a new and conspicuous success.—D. Appleton & Co.

"The Eternal City," a novel by Hall Caine, author of "The Christian," "The Manxman," "The Bondman," "The Deemster," etc. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

"The Eternal City" is the novel of democracy. For nearly three years the author has been engaged in the preparation of this the most important work he has yet produced. While this story is a brilliant sociological study, it is by a novelist with vigorous and true artistic instinct. Hence "The Eternal City" as a story merely has force and absorbing interest. The hero, a tribune of the people, and Roma, a fascinating figure, are creations that seize upon the imagination. A passionate love, and a relentless working out of destiny, gave the romance singular power. With rare insight, Mr. Caine has taken for the central theme certain fundamental questions that are being asked everywhere today. Against a gray background of religious formalism and political conservatism, he has painted the uprising of a new popular spirit, and the protest of democracy against oppression. The scene is laid in Rome, at once the oldest and the youngest city in the world. The ancient capital is typical of the new evolution of our time. Hence, as the environment of the actors in this drama, it is full of suggestion. Mr. Caine has lived long in Rome, and his intimate acquaintance with the city, from the Vatican and the Quirinal to the humblest alleys, gives his romance color, vividness and accent. It is a pleasure to present a book embodying such artistic power and such a grasp of the world problems of the day in so absorbing and profound an interpretation of human nature.—D. Appleton & Co.

D. Appleton and Company's November announcements include "The Man Who Knew Better," by T. Gallon; "Under the Skylights," by Henry B. Fuller; "The French People," by Arthur Hassall; "The Apostles of the Southeast," by Frank T. Bullen; "The Allen," by F. F. Montessor; "Bookbinding and the Care of Books," by Douglas Cockerell; "While Charlie Was Away," by Mrs. Poultny Rigelow; "The Fortune of Christian McNab," by S. Macnaughtan; and the story of "The Art of Building." Col. Robt. M. Thompson, president of the Naval Academy Alumni of New York, after reading "The Quiberon Touch," said: "It carries with it the Very Air of the Sea. I have not been able to lay it down until it was finished." The book is the work of Cyrus Townsend Brady, author of "Commodore Paul Jones," "Reuben James," etc., and is published by the Appletons.

The costliest meal ever served was a supper given by Aelius Verus, a lavish Roman. It was given to seven guests and cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars. YOUNG WOMANHOOD.

How Often it is Made Miserable by the Lack of Proper Advice at Just the Right Time.

This picture tells its own story of sisterly affection. The older girl, just budding into womanhood, has suffered greatly with those irregularities and menstrual difficulties which sap the life of so many young women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints, that bearing down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system.

Mrs. Pinkham especially invites young girls to write her about their sickness. She has made thousands of young sufferers happy.

Two young women authorize us to publish the following letters.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. Before I took your medicine I could hardly stand the pains in my back. I tried different doctors but none did me any good. I took three bottles and feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure while before it was a burden. To-day I am a well and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world."—MISS MATHILDA J. LAGASSE, 826 9th St., New Orleans, La. (Dec. 30, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several months with pains in my back and sides. I felt worn out and weak. I tried many different medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking several bottles, I feel entirely well. My improvement was simply wonderful. Thanking you for the benefit I have derived from your medicine." (Jan. 12, 1901.) I am sincerely yours, FANNIE CLIFTON, La Due, Mo."

Do not be persuaded that any other medicine is just as good. Any dealer who suggests something else has no interest in your case. He is seeking a larger profit.

Follow the record of this medicine and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonials are not genuine, or were published without obtaining the writers' special permission.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

DRY GOODS & CARPETS

An Unassuming Nobleman.
The duke of Norfolk is one of the most charitable members of the British peerage, and gives enormous sums away yearly. He has a great contempt for appearances, and a story is told of his having one day been met walking down Pall Mall with a big brown paper parcel under his arm. Upon a friend's inquiring what he had there, he informed him that it was "his uniform." He was on his way to a drawing-room at Buckingham palace, at which he would have to appear gorgeous in red and gold.

Ten Years' Advance in Steamships.
The net result in respect of speed is that while ten years ago the highest sustained ocean speed was 20.7 knots it is now 23.51 knots; the highest speed for large warships was 22 knots, and is now 23 knots on a trial of double the duration of those of ten years ago; the maximum speed attained by any craft was 25 knots, as compared with 18.681 knots now; while the number of ships of over 20 knots was eight in 1891, and is fifty-eight now.—Engineering.

Six Thousand Women Doctors.
America leads in the matter of women practicing medicine. The first was Elizabeth Blackwell, who graduated as physician in 1849. Three years later there were six in Philadelphia. In 1889 there were three thousand women doctors in the United States; in 1896 there were 4,565, and now there are probably six thousand, some of whom have a very lucrative practice.—Indianapolis News.

Is Purely an American Bird.
The humming bird, of which there are a thousand varieties, is found only in America and the adjacent islands. The only food that will be of any avail in the proposed attempt to convey some of these birds to Europe is honey. It is not very difficult to keep humming birds alive in cages for a few weeks in summer, but it is almost impossible to get them through the winter.

125,000 Spruce Seeds in a Pound.
A pound of the seeds of the Colorado blue spruce contains about 125,000 seeds, and sell for $3, whereas the price was formerly $12 a pound. There is a good deal of competition to-day from California to Oregon, but owing to the mild climate the seeds from the Pacific coast are not so hardy as those from Colorado, and will not stand the severe winters of the northeastern States.—Utica Globe.

Astrological Meaning of Infuence.
The word influence at first had an astrological meaning. It referred to the subtle energy supposed to emanate from the sun, moon and stars, and to exert some mystic power over the human race.
